Seeding Time Will Soon Be Here

When the weather is cold and snowy it's easy to put off ordering seed until tomorrow or maybe the first of next week. But a few warm days and everyone will want his seed in a hurry. With few exceptions we can make prompt shipment of all items. Early needed seed will be given shipping preference during the rush season.

Use SCOTTS this spring. You can depend on high germinating, clean, noxious weed free, fully matured seed that will produce well for you. From Replete, West Virginia, a customer just wrote: "Send me prices on farm seeds at once. I want to buy my seed of you. I have used your seed for seven years and there is none I can find to equal it."

Seed Grains

Crop News and Views for December discussed new oats varieties as well as "Hard Seeds" and "Fescues." Ask for a copy if you didn't receive yours. All grains are treated to give protection against smuts and seedling diseases found in the soil and to insure high production of quality grain. Recommended varieties of oats and barley are listed and ready for shipment.

Alfalfa and Clovers

In addition to the regular clover and alfalfa varieties which most customers want, we have Ranger and Buffalo alfalfa, Cumberland and Midland red clover, Ladino, Birdsfoot trefoil, Hubam and other minor legumes. The market is very firm on legume seed with no indication of lower prices this season.

Brome grass, timothy, special pasture grasses and meadow and pasture mixtures are of excellent quality and available in whatever amount you may need.

Hybrid Corn

Most of the hybrid seed looks good and all is high in germination, well graded and treated. While we still have good supplies of seed corn you might also list a satisfactory second choice. Some corn shipments may be delayed a little in order to get earlier needed seed shipped promptly.

Soybeans, Sudan, Sorgo

It is our opinion that soybean seed is scarcer this year than last and we suggest planting in rows where possible to save seed as well as cost. Forty-five to sixty pounds per acre planted in rows will give yields equal to or better than two bushels per acre drilled solid. Inoculation, necessary if beans are to add nitrogen to the soil, is furnished without additional charge.

Sudan, sorgo, millet and buckwheat are quoted and will be ready for shipment about March 10th. Certified Williams syrup cane is also listed for those interested in sorghum syrup making.

TREATED HYBRID SEED CORN

SCOTTS Hybrid Corn has been graded for width, length and thickness and will plant easily and accurately in any make of planter. It is treated for protection against disease. The round kernels are graded uniformly and will yield just as well as the flats but special plates are usually required for accurate planting. These plates are available for most standard planters.
